RENO, N.Y.—AS HE lay gravely wounded in a classroom at the American Civic Association, Long Joseph credited his death wish and tried to keep his eyes open—to stay awake—telling himself he had to survive for his two children.

Guardoni had skinned his elbow, blown off a finger and slammed his head and chin. He bled profusely. This wasn't the way things were supposed to turn out.

He and his wife, Lan He, came to the United States from Vietnam two years ago seeking a better life. They were taking English classes at the civic association Friday when Joseph, 41,

Palace taps new emissary to free 2 hostages

By Terna Quimando and Christine G. Arendano

THREE POLICE OFFICERS, TWO barangay chiefs and two alleged Abu Sayyaf members have been charged with kidnapping for ransom in connection with the Jan. 35 abduction of three workers of the International Committee of the Red Cross (ICRC).

The Philippine National Police filed the charges on Saturday against the seven in the prosecutor's office in Zamboanga City, where they were being held by the Criminal Investigation and Detection Group, PNP spokesperson Rupt. Jose Garcia said.

Also yesterday Press Secretary George Mendoza announced that the government had tapped a new emissary to help secure the release of the hostages. He declined to reveal details "so there will be a chance for the negotiations to succeed."

PNP Director General Jovito Nelson told reporters that military, police and civilian volunteer units had completed deployments on Jolo island, to put pressure on the Abu Sayyaf Group (ASG) to release Steven Anderson Foster and Italian engineer Tiziana.

'Pabasa' is for meditating, not loud wailing

By Donna Pazilagan

IT'S NOT YOUR NEIGHBORHOOD katulaga, it's the pulchra. If you have trouble sleeping at night this Holy Week because of the "pabasa" of the "pasyon," remind the countless angels of Christ's passion and death that it's OK not to wail as loudly.

The pabasa is a uniquely Filipino tradition of chanting or singing the pasyon, a book narrating the passion, death and resurrection of Jesus Christ.

Many of its practitioners do it as a personal view or passion during Holy Week.

Pistachios still being sold in Metro

By Juan V. Samaniego Jr., Allan M. Lopez and Donna Pazilagan

ALMOST A WEEK AFTER THE BUREAU of Food and Drugs (BFD) warned the public against eating pistachios and products containing the nut because of a possible salmonella contamination, two more products with pistachio and three brands of salad pistachio are still being sold in a number of supermarkets and convenience stores in Metro Manila.

People who have ingested food or other products with the salmonella bacteria may experience severe diarrhea that may cause dehydration, fever, abdominal cramps, joint pain, eye irritation and painful urination.

The BFD has found that since Dairy's pistachio ice cream and Seleno's pistachio ice cream and Seleno's pistachio ice cream and Seleno's pistachio ice cream are still being sold at Seleno's Supermarket at Festival Mall in Alibon.

Moon, Saturn leave new stargazers starstruck

By DJ Nap

A BLANKET OF CLOUDS cast a pall over centers Metro Manila on the cool summer evening of April 3, and a chill in the air befuddled stargazers. Somewhere over the horizon, the moon and the stars were obscured by a dark gray haze.

Quite an inauspicious start for a night of stargazing.

"Clouds are the astronomer's worst enemy," Mike Dasigan, chair of the Philippine Astronomical Society (Philastro), said with a chuckle. "We wait," he told the others.

The practice of astronomy requires patience—a lot of it, Dasigan said.

Last Friday was one of Philastro's five public viewing events in front of the Seleno Building on Marikina Highway in Pasig City. With the group were a handful of high school and college students in invited to the gathering.

"These activities are meant to trigger a spark of interest among our youth," Dasigan said. "There could be a Newton sitting as, or a Galileo. All it takes is a trigger."

THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES WILL get the bill rolling on the independent commission against Ombudsman Marceline Guterrey in a group of civil society organizations led by former Senate President Attilio Salgado, which is working to speed up the work.

NY cops took 43 mins to enter building

By Anna Dela Cruz

It took five minutes and 43 seconds for New York City police to enter the World Trade Center building on 9/11.

Four Chinese were among those killed, and a Chinese student was also shot in the chest before being rescued, officials said. The other victims came from Italy, Pakistan, the Philippines, Iraq, Brazil, Vietnam and the United States.

Among the dead was Filipino immigrant Delmar Carlos Pineda, 36, who was working at the time he was killed. He had been living in the United States for about a year, Philippine Daily Inquirer reported.

On Sunday, police defended the 43 minutes it took to reach the building after the first World Trade Center tower was hit.

Medical examiners told the district attorney that the injuries were not severe, so the minutes would have mattered even if police had entered the building immediately. Security cameras showed that the towers were hit at 8:45 a.m., but it took about 10 minutes for the towers to collapse. CHR reminds Sulu execs to respect human rights

By Helen Dizon

MANILA UNDER A STATE of emergency, the Commission on Human Rights (CHR) yesterday urged provincial authorities to respect the rights of people suspected of being members or supporters of the Abu Sayyaf Group (ASG).

"While we recognize the authority of the government as Executive Local, to declare a state of emergency to address crisis situations, CHR reminds members of the provincial office of the need to go through the proper legal processes," CHR chief Lucio de Lima said in a statement.

Gov. Abdurrahman has imposed a state of emergency in the province since March 22, following a threat by the ASG to kidnap the heads of all 16 townships of the province.

The proclamation authorized "general search and seizure operations, including arrests, in the pursuit only of the ASG and their supporters" and the implementation of "other such actions or police operations as may be necessary to secure public safety."

"We stress, inasmuch ASG co-conspirators, recruits and supporters among the ranks of local and foreign officials and even PNP Philippine National Police, officers and personnel, they should be treated and respected as the human rights of those involved," de Lima said.

He later added that the CHR had received a letter from Tan in July. The request would be taken up by the CHR's on-line monitoring body.

He said that the CHR regional office in Zamboanga City had dispatched a team in July to monitor the human rights situation, document possible human rights violations and assist the
